Polish market

The solar energy market is one of the most fast-growing sectors, both in Poland and abroad.

According to the analyses of the IEO (Institute for Renewable Energy), the projects with power between 0.5 and 1 MW are still the most frequently developed ones in Poland. As of the first quarter of 2020, there were 2786 projects with such parameters, with a total capacity of 2.561 GW.

Contributing to the global trend of renewable energy sources and the support of this industry by the European Union makes it a very attractive form of investment.
